

The Grouse House Gazette

EMAIL from the Monday of the first Trump/Clinton Debate:

Dear Gazette Readers...

Just a quick note about our "news" media's current insanity.

It is non-stop cop-killing every time that these things happen.

And I fully understand the gravity and importance of the stories...

This is ugly stuff that needs to be fixed.

We need well trained... well paid... respected policemen.... with psychologically correct profiles and proper skills.

Oh... but that would take money... and more government... so that's not gonna happen any time soon...

I've now switched to Netflix where I will live in a binge streaming haze for the next forty-eight hours until the debate.

My prediction is that Hillary is going to "kill"... And Trump will try to play "nice"... but he won't be able to keep from going for the bait.

But my main point about the news media in recent days is that all of the cameras have been in their "if it bleeds it leads" world of our horrid 24 hour news cycles with non-stop, non-news, continuous "bulletins" when nothing new had actually been happening most of the time with the police shootings.

We will know when we know. There are other things happening... important things.

And they totally missed some of the biggest lies of the entire campaign on the part of Trump...

I urge everyone to read this Times piece...

This is exactly what I wanted to write next...

But MAGGIE HABERMAN and ALEXANDER BURNS beat me to it in the Times... GREAT JOB!

A WEEK OF WHOPPERS FOR DONALD TRUMP:

And please pass it along...

Until next time....
